

25 for 25

THE GEORGIA HEALTH POLICY CENTER'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY SPEAKER AND FILM SERIES

- Nationally recognized speakers
- Engaging films
- Thought-provoking conversations

This series will examine the root causes of poor health (poverty, economic inequality, and racism), current manifestations of these health disparities (childhood obesity, children's behavioral health, and the opioid epidemic), and potential solutions to achieve health equity.

We invite you to join us as we explore innovative solutions to the most complex health-related challenges with national thought leaders.

JAN
23

Confronting Childhood Obesity: 25 Years of Action in Georgia

Georgia State School of Law ■ 85 Park Place NE ■ 3-5 p.m.
Georgia faces an epidemic of childhood obesity with dire, long-term consequences, but has emerged as a national leader in creating public-private solutions.

APR
16

Achieving Racial Health Equity: Tackling Structural & Historic Barriers with author Douglas Blackmon

Auburn Avenue Research Library ■ 101 Auburn Ave. NE ■ 4-6 p.m.
An excerpt from the award-winning documentary Slavery by Another Name lays the groundwork to examine how racism contributes to health inequities that persist today and how to remove them.

JUN
11

Persistent Income Inequality: How and Why It Affects Health

Auburn Avenue Research Library ■ 101 Auburn Ave. NE ■ 4-6 p.m.
Join us for a viewing of the film Inequality for All, followed by a discussion about the impact of reduced job and educational opportunities and low wages on health outcomes.

SEP
17

Zero to Three: Building Connections for Lifelong Impact

Auburn Avenue Research Library ■ 101 Auburn Ave. NE ■ 4-6 p.m.
A screening of the documentary No Small Matter, followed by keynote speaker Dr. Myra Jones-Taylor, from Zero to Three, will highlight how the impact of early care and education on early brain development can impact America's social and economic future.

OCT
21

Dreamland: America's Opioid Epidemic and How We Got Here with author Sam Quinones

Centennial Hall at Georgia State University ■ 100 Auburn Ave. NE ■ 4-6 p.m.
Award-winning author Sam Quinones will share the stories from a memorable cast of characters to paint a complete, systems picture of the root causes of the deadly opioid epidemic and how communities can overcome it.

All events are free and open to the public. Light refreshments and networking to follow each event.

For more details please visit ghpc.gsu.edu/anniversary or follow us on social media #25for25.

